

A black and white line drawing of a leafy branch, possibly a vine, that curves around the central text. The branch has several leaves of different shapes, some with veins, and small circular buds or flowers. The entire scene is enclosed in a simple rectangular border.

Kindness
is a language
everyone
understands.